Q4. A rapidly growing Indian Ayurved FMCG company with 'Guruji' brand across all its product categories that stands for everything indigenous. The company now plans to foray into Apparels (Jeans) category which seems to be a noncore and unrelated diversification move made by the management.

The Indian clothing industry is highly complex, diversified, and competitive in nature. These characteristics are much more visible in Jeans category where MNC's have a strong presence and dominance. The denim market in India was estimated to be worth INR 17,661 crores in 2018. Yet Indian brands are also visible and have presence both from the organized as well as unorganized players. The price for denim ranges from less than INR 500 for unbranded jeans to over INR 5,000 for high-end brands. The price point preference depends upon the demographics and economic background of the customer. The average selling price of jeans for masses approximately in the 800 - 1,000 range.

The local jeans brands contribute to approximately 25 percent of the overall brand landscape, However, a lot of denim jeans business is taken care of in an unorganized manner through various selling and distribution channels.

Questions:

(a) Suggest a suitable brand name for the Jeans to be introduced by the company. What can be various ways to position this product in the target market. (10 Marks)

(b) Recommend the selection of channels of distribution for the Jeans brand for its northern market so as to compete both with organized as well as the unorganized Indian players. What are the factors that need to be taken into consideration while selecting a distribution channel? (10 Marks)
