The next festival of education will soon be organised at Udaipur, said Kalyan Singh, governor of Rajasthan, during the closing ceremony of the two-day Festival of Education. This event, initiated by the government of Rajasthan in collaboration with GEMS Education, was organised at JECC on Saturday and Sunday.

"The Festival of Education is a beginning of the big reforms being introduced in the education system. I believe, to every problem education is the answer. The Primary education in Rajasthan does need a little attention. However, the festival brings a hope that in the near future, the state will be completely literate with equal job opportunities," Singh said.

The final day of Festival of Education was filled with equal excitement and enthusiasm to learn about different aspects and new technologies emerging in the education sector. Rajiv Pratap Rudy, minister of the state of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, during the opening session, informed about the importance of skilling and said that if not more, skilling is as important as gaining the education. Chief minister Vasundhara Raje, during a personal session, said that girls are an asset for Rajasthan and need to be nurtured and cared with all affection.

The closing ceremony involved beautiful music and dance performances. School children from across the state gave a performance on One Young Rajasthan theme which was directed by famous choreographer Dharmesh. Shillong Chamber Choir performed 'Vande Mataram' which was highly appreciated by the attendees. The show ended with a headliner act by Bollywood singer Sonu Mohapatra.
