

QS GRADUATE EMPLOYABILITY RANKINGS 2018

Which universities are producing the most employable graduates?

As India's dream 'demographic dividend' threatens, in a situation of crawling job growth, to turn into a nightmare of unemployment, an authoritative global ranking of universities based on the employability potential of their graduates puts Indian institutions towards the bottom of the pile, compared to institutions in both Asia and the rest of the world

The QS Graduate Employability Rankings are designed to provide students with a tool to compare university performance in terms of graduate employability outcomes and prospects. In previous years, the Rankings acquired and analysed data pertaining to 300 institutions and published a list of 200; this year, the number of evaluated institutions have been doubled and the list ranks the top 500 universities.

Each institution's score is based on five indicators: Employer Reputation (30% weight); Alumni Outcomes (25%); Partnerships with Employers per Faculty (25%); Employer/Student Connections (10%); and Graduate Employment Rate (10%).
