Shri Arun Jaitley (Hon'ble Minister of Finance, Corporate Affairs, Information & Broadcasting, Government of India)

Leadership is an art of discovering a new path. It is imperative for aspirational societies to recognize talents which act as role models. Such recognitions should encourage the role models to occupy the centre-stage of the public discourse. People are acquiring excellence at young age and the era of grey eminence is gradually coming to an end.

Dr. J. J. Irani (Chairman, BoG, IIM Lucknow)

Our country today need such leaders, who leave no stone unturned to accomplish extraordinary feats. People who are not looking to create followers but create more leaders like them. I salute all these exceptionally brilliant and great people who have remained focused and true to themselves even in the face of adversity.
