Bhubaneswar: Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS) will host the 19th International Union of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences (IUAES) World Congress-2023. The event is held every five years in different parts of the world, informed Dr. Achyuta Samanta, founder, KIIT & KISS in a press meet in Bhubaneswar recently.

India, represented by KISS, won the bid against Croatia by a huge margin to host the next World Congress of Anthropology-2023 in collaboration with Utkal University and Sambalpur University and Indian Anthropological Association, Delhi during the congress that was held in Brazil from 16 to 20 July. This mega event, which will be held from 15 to 19 January 2023, is expected to be attended by more than 10000 delegates from over 150 countries. The IUAES is the largest gathering of academicians and researchers in the fields of anthropology and ethnology in the world. In this global meet of the scholars engaged in the scientific study of humankind, KISS and Odisha would be projected in all its beauty and charm.

India will be hosting this prestigious meet after a long gap of 45 years.
